An ITEM .- A bung came out of a beer keg on a wagon, which was being driven along Third street, near Walnut, to day, and before the stoic Teuton, who was behind the borses, discovered the mishap, he was minus a part of his load. Several persons hailed him and pointed to the running stream, but he, with an innocent laugh and a self-satisfied air, replied: "You pe tam-no fool me." When it was too late he stopped his team and managed to save about a quart of the beverage.

THE RIVER.-The water continues to recede quite rapidly, leaving the banks covered to the depth of three inches with soft vellow mud, while the floors of houses lately nundated have even a greater quantity to bear. Scuntor Wade of Ohio. The second term of Hon. B. F. Wade, of Ohio, as Senator, expires with the present Congress, March 4, 1863. The General As-sembly of Ohio, which is now in session, will re-elect him or choose a successor. We no-t ce by the Ohio papers that the subject is attracting some attention. How the ques-tion may be regarded there we do not know, but we believe there would be a general that we believe there would be a general feeling of disappointment among loyal men throughout the country if Mr. Wade should not be returned to the place he fills with so much ability, and from which he ought not to be spared Mr. Wade holds rank unquestionably among the first and ablest men in the Senate. His talents are of a high order; his acquaintance in public affairs is extensive; his judgment sound and penetrating; his long experience in the Senate most valuable. He possesses in an uncommon degree that intellectual quality or combination and balance of qualities which mark his opinions and action as the dictates of "common sense." He is a man withal of high and generous impulses, heroically true to his con-victions; bold, decided, scorping all ambi-dextrous acts—all unmanly disguises. If the voice of the Union men in other States be entitled to any consideration, we feel sure the General Assembly of Ohio will ot supersede Mr. Wade by any other man. Capable and deserving men they have, no doubt, but not one who would carry with him all the qualifications which confessedly belong to B. F. Wade .- St. Louis Democrat.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN UTICA, N. Y .-About five o'clock Sunday afternoon, a man named James Dunn, a coach trimmer by trade, who has been living for some time in Utica, murdered his wife and took his own life while crezed by rum. The Utica Herald says that, when first discovered, the woman lay at full length before the bed, in a pool of blood, the right side of her neck and head covered with ghastly wounds, gashes from the razor across her face from her forehead to her chip, some of her teeth broken off, her features distorted as if she died in terrible fear and pais. Gloves were on her hands, and she wasotherwise attired as if, before she was struck she had intended to go into the street. The murderer was leaning against the door, his throat cut across and across again, by the bloody razor he held in his hand. Every thing was in the wildest confusion, bed-clothes, some articles of wearing apparel, and straw from the beds strewed over the floor and soaking up the blood.

A WELCOME TO THE CRESCENT CITY .- The New Orleans Delta thus extends an invitation to General Butler and his men to visit that city:

The real destination, undoubtedly, is either fobile or New Orleans, but most probably this city. The question then arises, why do they not come along? Here is the largest city in the South—here is a genuine cotton port, not a bogus one, though there is little or no cotton here at present. There are thousands here who would welcome the intelli-gence that the refrain of the old song was true, and that Picayune Butler was a com-ing to town. The way is open, and Chalmette's glories will be repeated, with the difference only between defeating a brave and manly fee and such a race of sneaking imbeciles as the Bull Runners of the North ZOLLICOFFER'S CORPSE -He lay in a wrapped in an army blanket, his chest and left arm and side exposed. A tall, rather slender man, with thin brown hair, high forehead, somewhat bald, Roman nose, firm wide mouth and clean-shaved face. A pistol-ball had struck him in the breast, a little above the heart, killing him instantly. His face bore no expression such as is usually found on those who fall in battle—no malice, no reckless hate, not even a shadow of physical pain. It was calm, piscid, noble. But I have never looked on a countenance so marked with sadness.- Comp Letter.

Sommer, Ky.—"Somerset," says a Western correspondent, "is a small, one horse town, of about 1,500 inhabitants, is not remarkable for beauty or business, but like almost all other interior Kentacky towns, is a dull and dreary-looking place. The buildsings are nearly all wooden structures, and the business parts, especially, are rather rickety looking affairs. There are but two buildings in the place, one of which is the Court-house, and is a magnificent structure, being about on a par with an ordinary smoke boure."

37th Congress---First Session.

NOT THE MAN HE WAS TAKEN FOR .- When the Georgia Secssion Commissioners came to Missouri to lay their cause before the Leg-islature and the State Convention, one of them, Mr. Cooper, was introduced to John B. Henderson as a prominent "Democrat of Missouri." The Georgian began expressing his gratification at meeting a Missouri Democrat, who, of course, he imagined, was "favor-able to the rights of the South," and was proceeding to address Mr. Henderson on that supposition. Mr. H. took occasion to set him right by saying: "Sir, I am a Democrat, and I am in favor of the rights of the Southbut not in favor of the reballion of the Southbut not in favor of the reballion of the South I am a Union Democrat, sir, and, if you please, a coercionist. For I am in favor of putting down this Secession reballion, and of using the power and resources of the General Government to any extent required for that purpose; 'that is my Democracy.' The Georgia gentleman dropped the subject, and sought introduction to some more congenial Missourian .- St. Louis Democrat.

The Richmond Whig read the people a homily on "their inhumanily disrespectful and foolish" attachment to dancing and junketing at such a grave period, when thousands and thousands of fathers, sons, hus-sands and lovers are exposing their lives in the field to save "the sacred soil from sub-jugation," And it moreover save: "We are getting corrupt too fast. What with cheating, extorting, drinking and dancing the round dances, we are leaping into the foul depths of Washington degradation at a single bound. If we must become rotten let us rot a little less rapid."

The Examiner advocates the propriety of setting three-fourths of the negroes in Virginia to work on railroads and highways, which it begins to see are of the highest con quence even to the elevated state of civ-Mization enjoyed by the Dixians.

The following bon mot is related of the Earl of Derby: When Premier, the death of a Scottish hero created a vacancy in the Order of the Thistle, and it was considered. that a certain nobleman more eminent for his rank and extensive possessions in Scotlist fank and extensive possessions in Scot-land than for his intellectual qualities, as-pired to the distinction. Lord Derby, con-trary to expectation, nominated another Scottish lord for the honor. Her Majesty could not help asking, "Why did you not give the Thixtle to Lord —?" The Pre-mier promptly replied; "I was afraid, your Majesty, that he would cat it!" It is said that the Opean priored the loke inconsister. that the Queen enjoyed the joke immensely, and was perfectly satisfied with the explana-

LATE MISSOURI NEWS

The Richmond Dispatch on the Rebel Defeat in Kentucky.

[New York Tribune's Special Dispatch.] New York, January 27.—A proposition vill soon be offered in the Senate to impose a tax of ten per cent. upon the pay of officers, from a Major General down to a private. The army prefers a tax to a reduction of pay and large numbers have petitioned for it From this source Government will receive revenue of about $25,000,000. The petition from the officers states that they prefer a tax of fifteen or twenty per cent, to a reduction proposed by Senator Sherman. Many Sonators and members approve the idea and will support it. Letters from Havana to-day state the allies are greatly dissatisfied with their pros-pects in Mexico, and complain that Miramon and others have deceived them. Tuey expected aid from a strong party, and they find the population as one man against them. They are convinced their present forces are entirely inadequate to the task of oringing the Mexicans to terms. The troops at Vera Cruz are suffering greatly from sickness, five hundred men out of eight thou-sand being in the hospitals. Whenever they have ventured beyond the range of their cannon, they have been shot down, if few, or driven back if in force. Discontented and virtually besieged, they quarrel among themselves.

On one occasion, a French regiment fought a Spanish regiment until a number were killed and wounded in each. In consequence of this brawl, it was determined that the French force should immediately land at l'ampico, where, as previous advices inform os, resistance would be made.

The English were at the same time to attack Matamoras.

Mr. Corwin writes that Doblado, who is the soul of the new Administration declares that Mexico will make a successful resist-ence to the invaders, but adds that he has not learned on what territorial line of de-fense he will make it. The Allies have already differed among themselves on a number of trifling points, such as the relative positions at Vera Cruz of their national flags, which have been changed three times, and of the order of their signatures to proclamations and other docu-It is doubtful whether the House will pass the bill reorganizing the Supreme Court as it comes from the Senate. It is thought the bill will be amended so as to put Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin in one circuit, and the States west of the Mississippi in another. Recent intelligence leads to the belief that most of the rebel soldiers directly in front of Washington are housed between Bull Run forts at Centerville only being left there. It is believed that a large portion of the wing of the Potomse is distributed at various points in Virginia, upon the lines of railroads converging at Manages.

Colonel Reynolds, the Government Agent at Port Royal to superintend the gathering, growing and transportation of cotton, arrived here yesterday, and had a long inter-view with the Secretary of the Treasury He has already secured more than one million dollars' worth of cotton.

The two or three thousand negroes just freed are industrious and orderly, and do their work well and cheerfully.

They need clothing and medical attendance, and he desires to take back with him an ample supply of the former and several physicians. [Special Dispatch to the New York Times.] A rebel deserter, who came into our lines last evening, contradicts the report that the rebels have fallen back from Manassas. He says that about ten regiments have gone South, but that the main body of the rebel army has not changed its position. The rebel line of defense extends upward of sixty miles. They expect the most sanguinary battle to take place at Centerville, for they have at that place, and for miles around, almost impregnable fortifications.

Rolla, January 26 - A prominent citizen of Southwest Missouri has just arrived from Mount Vernon, Lawrence County. He says General Rains, with about 400 men, stayed all night at Mount Vernon on Tuesday night, the 14th inst., on his way to Granby, where his soldiers said they were going to work in the lead mines.

Threats were made to arrest all men who had been connected with home guard com-panies, and put them at work in the mines. In consequence of this a large number of Union citizens were leaving the country. On the same night that Rains stayed at Mt. Vernon report said that 170 or 200 rebels were encamped on the head of Spring River, destined for Cassieville.

In regard to the number of troops in Northern Arkansas, he says that he has it from good authority that there are only about five or six hundred at Cross Hollows and Cane Hill, Benton County; but there was a body of from three to five thousand at Tells-worth Bend, about fifty miles below Van Bergen, on the Arkanass River.

Several Secessionists told Hall that Price's forces at Springfield did not exceed ten uousand men. This gentleman met the scouts of the Federal army four miles beyond Lebanon, and other troops at different scient this side. points this side. Boston, January 27.-A fire this morning in Quincy Market, in the story over the stalls, proved very disastrons to nearly all the occupants of the market, by the flames, smoke and water. Very few of them were Nourse, Mason & Co., dealers in agricultural implements, were damaged $20,000 fully insured. The intire building owned by the city was generally damaged. Total loss estimated at $100,000.

Washington, January 27 - The oath of office was this day administered by the Clerk of the Supreme Court to Associate Justice Swayne, who took his seat.

Mr. Colfax introduced a bill to render more uniform postage on printed matter. Referred to the Postoffice Committee.

FORTHER MONROE, January 26 .- Tau Richmond Dispatch, of Friday, shows that the Kentucky.
The Dispatch says: "We regret to the report of the Federal victory in Kentacky, conveyed to us on Wednesday night from Northern sources, is more than con-rmed by intelligence received here at the War Department. It appears that our defeat was more decisive than even the Northern accounts had led us to believe.
